

Amazon Quickstart Guide

How to search for a product to sell on Amazon

- When searching for a suitable product you need to find one that ideally sells for $20 to $50 (US Dollars) – note you start by looking at a group of products and providing this category averages around this amount you should be able to select one selling for that price.
- You then need to check how many searches there are for that particular range of products making sure it's less than 1,000, eg 1-24 of 202 results for
- The next step is then to check the opportunity score, for example, using JungleScout Chrome Extension you would want the product to score at least a number 6.

- After that still using the same chrome extension, you need to check the top 10 and make sure that there are:
 - at least 4 products with less than 100 reviews;
 - combined sales of $1,000 per month;
 - what tier the goods are in, preferably no more than large standard.
- Once you have found a group that meets the criteria above you will find one product listing that you want to emulate and possibly improve on.
- Once you select the individual product you will need to go to a sourcing site, such as Alibaba or AliExpress etc and find this product there.
- On the sourcing site when you've located the product you need to ensure that the sell cost is at least four times the cost to buy.
- If the cost price is greater than this you will need to start over again with a different product.
- The following slides will show you some examples.
